Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-16 and 18, drawn to a plug assembly.

Group II, claim(s) 17, drawn to an assembly to line a pipe.

Group III, claim(s) 19-22, drawn to method of deploying a plug.

The inventions listed as Groups I, II, and III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the special technical features of group II is the structure of a sleeve which would render the apparatus as an apparatus to deploy a repair sleeve which is different technically from a plugging apparatus in that the structure of a sleeve is also required, and the special technical feature of group III is directed to the use of coolant and the structure related therewith which is not a special technical feature of the plug of group I or the sleeve of group II.

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

There are three different types of obstructing means, and two of the three types have different embodiments as follows: A) utilizing a ring for the obstructing means which can be one of the following, 1) using overlapping coil rings, 2) having C shaped rings, 3) having memory metal rings, 4) a ring secured by a meltable material, 5) forming the ring of bimetallic strip; B) obstruction means directed to floating or sinking material that acts as the obstructing means, 1) the use of metallic bead particulates, and 2) components that are coupled to a carrier; and C) forming the obstructing means by the use of skirts. Election of one of the groups A-C is required, and if group A or B are elected, then one of the species of these groups is also required. If group A is elected then an election from species 1-5 is required, or if group B is elected then an election from species 1 or 2 is required.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Claim 2 which is directed to utilizing a ring for the obstructing means, claim 3 using overlapping coil rings, claim 4 having C shaped rings, claim 5 having memory metal rings, claim 6 is a ring secured by a meltable material, claim 7 is forming the ring of bimetallic strip; claim 8 is directed to floating or sinking material that acts as the obstructing means, claims 9 and 10 recite the use of metallic bead particulates, and claim 11 directed to components that are coupled to a carrier; and claim 12 recites the use of skirts.

The following claim(s) are generic: at least claim 1 is considered generic to all species.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the special technical feature of a ring varies greatly from that of a floating or sinking material, or a skirt. Also, the special technical features of the various embodiments of the rings vary in structure and materials used. The same is true of the various embodiments of the floating or sinking material where the structure of metallic beads is different from a component which is coupled to a carrier where the metallic beads do not require a carrier material.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.
